High Church Dignitary Is Outspoken

Unrepeatedly taking the pulpit at St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, launched a vigorous condemnation of the suggestion that families on relief be provided with birth control information. It was said to be his first public discussion of the subject, and he told his congregation that it was the first time he ever had felt embarrassed in preaching a sermon.

Cardinal Hayes' Open Edict Irks 13 Clergymen

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—A reply to Cardinal Hayes' attack on birth control was made public Sunday over the signatures of 13 clergymen prominent in the Protestant and Jewish faiths.

Preferring that the program of birth control be left to the laity, they did not "compel any man or woman to act contrary to his conscience or his church," the clergymen warned.

"For any one religious group to attempt to exercise authority over other groups, whether that authority be based on social or ethnic or democratic and out of place," the statement was the outcome of a series of conferences held last week by clergymen who felt they should "protest against any word or act of the signatories of the (Hayes) Catholic church that would in effect impose the views of Americans the beliefs and practices of Roman Catholicism."

SHOWDOWN IN CABINET PENDS

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Despite widespread rumors of an impending cabinet reorganization, events have not yet reached a showdown, the Reuters learned today.

Every aspect of the Anglo-Ethiopian situation appeared on the list of questions to be asked in the House of Commons today.

"Tomorrow the Labor party will again consider whether to challenge the Franco-British peace plan by a motion of censure on the government or by a motion of confidence in the government," the Reuters learned today.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE

Speakers representing taxpayers' associations gave the city council some excellent advice at the last meeting. The recommendations may be tabulated as follows:

1. Set the tax rate provisionally at 50 mills;
2. Get out the tax notices early in the new year.

3. Offer notable discounts to encourage payment in monthly instalments, and for pre-payment.

If council will just accept these recommendations it will not go far wrong so far as finances are concerned. It might profitably add a fourth: Reduce penalties or cancel them altogether and thus encourage the payment of taxes.

Along these lines council can give the city's business a year of ease, sane, and satisfactory management.

DROUGHT FIGHTING

Some real reclamation work is to be started in the dry areas of the west according to Ottawa despatches. At the last session of parliament Hon. Robert Weir took authority to carry out certain experiments to show that reclamation is possible. But his plans called for the selection of small areas scattered over the prairie where stream-drainage and tree-planting would be done, rather as a means of testing or showing what could be done than with a view to producing actual results.

His successor evidently is content to take the evidence of experiments elsewhere and the word of engineers that reclamation is a thing possible of achievement. He starts operations on a scale large enough to be of practical importance. So far as the west is concerned there will be nothing but approval of this course, and the more actively the operations are carried on the stronger the approval will be.

The dry belt has paid many times over any amount of money that can be required to create forest areas and shelter belts at suitable places, and lakes where that can be done. As between reclamation and moving its population out, there is no question which is the best policy; and in the long run that is the choice.

UP TO THE LEGISLATORS

The Dominion-provincial conference is not a legislative body, and the Dominion government. It literally has no power to do anything—except to make recommendations to the Dominion parliament and the provincial legislatures.

What will really result from the gathering cannot therefore be known for three or four months—until parliament and the legislatures have met and decided whether, how far and how fast, these recommendations are to be carried into effect.

That the conference was composed of the first Premier and some of their cabinet colleagues is assurance that those recommendations will be put before the Dominion government with the backing of the cabinets. But it is not assurance that they will be acted upon in the way suggested, or to the degree proposed—or to no greater degree.

These questions the legislative bodies will have to decide for themselves, and until they have decided, the Dominion government and committees are nothing more than a series of proposals which may—and may not—be implemented in law and which the legislatures are not yet laws, nor even accepted policies.

It is with these bodies that the responsibility rests for what will come of the conference. We are still under the old government in Canada. The elected members of parliament and of the legislatures are the men who will decide whether the old government is to begin the beginning of real reconstructive effort, or whether the leadership and direction there given are to fall of results.

THEY CHARTERED A COURSE

The delegates at Ottawa did not exceed the speed limit in reconstructive radicalism. Quite the contrary. Their proposals are a good deal less drastic than were those of a very conservative section of the Canadian people who do not admit any inclination to revolutionary tendencies.

The program suggested by the conference undoubtedly represents the minimum, rather than the maximum, of any very reform and reform demand. Taken as a whole the proposals are well within the limits that would be approved by the average elector. He would probably in many directions far beyond them.

On some of the questions dealt with the conference did not go as far as certain of the governments were constrained to go by the voters, and are pledged to go by their election platforms. On no question did the delegates leave themselves open to a charge of placing too radical an interpretation upon known public opinion, and on some they fell far short of that mark. On a few matters of grave importance they were in the right.

But making all allowances in this respect, the conference did do one thing: it charted a course, and started it in the right direction. That is more than has been done by any nationally representative gathering since the times of trouble came upon the country. Hitherto there has been no such thing as a national recovery program, good, bad, or indifferent; we have simply drifted, and naturally drifted from bad to worse.

At least Canadians know now some things their governments intend trying to do to liquidate the damages of unchecked deflation and give the nation a chance to work its way back to better times. If some desirable items have been left out of the program, and some items have been framed in rather hazy circles, many would employ, at least it is a program—sanctioned by federal and provincial leaders, about which as a people can rally for concerted action.

Fifty Years Ago

A concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Association of the Presbyterian church will be held on Thursday evening, December 16, at 8 o'clock in the school house from 6 o'clock to 8. The concert will be held at 815. The following ladies are expected to participate in the musical program: Mesdames Howard, Lauder, Walker and Wilson, and Mesdames Fortin, Michael, MacDonald, Blake and Walker. The Ladies' Association will give some of the violin with piano accompaniment.

The circular authorizing the representatives of the various North West Coast districts to expend the remaining $500 of the amount originally voted for the benefit of their districts, alluded to lately in the council by the Lieutenant Governor, is not altogether circular in its nature, inasmuch as it never got round. It never reached Messrs. Jowett; it certainly did not reach the council. It would appear from the amounts expended that the only part of the circle touched by it was that embraced between Regina and Qu'Appelle.

Qu'Appelle correspondence: Council not in session. Strenuous efforts are being made to calibrate, bribe and coerce the independent members of the council to alter the census enumeration in the region to the address of the tenant governor's favor. Whiskey and promises are freely showered and the weak wing of the popular party seems to be wavering.

Cystitis

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

Cystitis, or bladder inflammation may occur in both an acute and a chronic form and is equally common among both sexes. Beyond any question of a doubt, many patients who believe they have kidney weakness and who have not yet received a confirmation of kidney trouble by examination, are really suffering from bladder irritation.

The surprising fact about cystitis is that frequently the discomfort will be referred to the back, appearing as a backache. The patient will not have the slightest reason to suspect that the bladder is the true source of the distressing sensation.

It has been my experience that inflammation of the bladder is a constant source of discomfort in the lower back and chronic inflammation of the bladder may induce a noticeable back pain without any marked symptoms in the bladder itself.

The bladder is a small sac, in which the liquid waste secreted by the kidneys is stored. The organ is lined with mucous membrane and is provided with a rich blood supply. It is over-loaded with toxic material, the delicate membrane may become irritated and inflamed. The inflammation may be restricted to certain local areas in the bladder or it may be a general inflammation.

There are three principal causes of bladder inflammation. These are: (1) bacterial, (2) chemical and (3) mechanical. Bacterial causes are meant an irritation of the bladder wall due to chemical substances in the lower back and chronic inflammation of the bladder may induce a noticeable back pain without any marked symptoms in the bladder itself.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

We who live on a peaceful continent and read of Italian crowds cheering Mussolini and clamoring for war with Britain, need to remember that the Italian people are victims of a stifled press.

Sinclair Lewis has a new book with the arresting title "It Couldn't Happen Here." It is intended to show that what is happening in Europe could happen here. But his first step would be to muzzle the press.

There are 485,000,000 million people in Europe and 315,000,000 in this country. There are living under dictatorships, based on the idea expressed in Hitler's "Mein Kampf" that a press hostile to the all-righteous and all-knowing state is an absurdity not to be tolerated.

A sample of the instruction that came from aloft is disclosed by the Italian paper "La Stampa Libera" (The Free Press) published in New York. It is anti-Fascist in policy, but asserts that its translation of the Italian censor's instructions is without bias.

According to the instructions include orders that the exploits of Mussolini's flying lion-in-law must be toned down in the headlines and comments, and that the obituary of the late Benito Mussolini must be given to the Fascist (duly edited by the censor) on the occasion of Fascism's thirtieth birthday.

"F.P.A." who writes one of the most distinguished columns in America—"The Conning Tower" in the New York Herald Tribune—has recently reprinted from the Cleveland Plain Dealer the following splendid tribute to the work of newspapermen. It is from the pen of William P. McGonigle.

"I know of few ambitions more difficult of achievement than the ambition to be a good newspaperman. Writing a novel involves knowledge of far less rigorous training, comprehensive of interest and sympathy, or skill, tenacity and accuracy of expression. It seems to me that there is no ability or no special talent too good for a newspaperman. There is nothing mean or small in the ambition to be a good newspaperman. The best and beauty of the infinite variety of human life as it unfolds itself in the day-by-day routine of a newsmen's life. He may not be a leader, but the job itself has dignity and importance."

How the task is degraded when the press is used as a propaganda tool, to feed people into the Moloch of war, incite hatreds and persecutions, draw a veil over the face of Truth, or see that the dictator is not made jealous by his son-in-law's rise to power.

None of these people cheering I.D. and clamoring for war have the slightest suspicion that the free world is reeling under the dangerous megalomania. One of the supposed intelligent citizens of Italy, Russia and Germany is possibly known to some people who view their leaders with feelings far from adulatory.

The nation that parts with the freedom of its press parts with the shield that stands between itself and tyranny.

Dog lovers who are called upon to defend "man's best friend" from charges of being unclean and unmitigated nuisances, will be interested in the story of four years ago when a dog named Bobby was found dead on a street near Extondale last week-end for forty-eight hours.

The little chap strolled away from his home in the park to take a walk in the park. A hundred neighbors around the fence, fearing that Bobby had fallen into a creek or worse still, fallen into the clutches of some degenerate. Bobby was found dead on a street near Extondale last week-end for forty-eight hours.

At two o'clock on the third afternoon, watchers saw a Siberian Samoyede dog which had been playing a playful game of hide-and-seek with two miles away from the boy's home.

Police who were summoned had the sense to stop anyone from coming near Bobby. Bobby was found dead on a street near Extondale last week-end for forty-eight hours.

The police dog, quickly picking up the scent of the Siberian led the rescue party through the dense bush to where the little chap was found.

"Oh! goody, I'm lost," said Bobby to his friends. And then the full story came out. The little chap's two playmates, a brindle terrier called Peggy and the Siberian dog, named Bruno, had followed the boy into the bush. "Bruno" tried to lead Bobby back home, but when Bobby insisted on going the other way Bruno went with him. A gray squirrel, who had been playing a playful game of hide-and-seek with Bobby, saw the little chap and led him away from the bush.

Then with the aid of the third dog the little chap was found. A man named Mr. W. J. often, but in the country no man, woman or child, can have a more devoted ally than a faithful dog.

It is not pleasant to have to fill the role of a folk-killer—especially among the members of one's own household. One of these stories about the curse of King Tut, revived over the death of Dr. Jas. H. Brewster on an Italian liner make me shudder.

It is true that the mummy chamber bore the words "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of Pharaoh."

SOUTH SIDE HEADS OFF HOCKEY

Athletics Win 5-3 Over Canuck Squad Before Good Crowd

Canadians Prove Great Batters As Winners Get Four-goal Lead in First Session of Hard Game.

South Side Athletics won a 5-3 victory over the Canuck squad in the first session of a hard game at the arena.

A fighting band of hockey men, making their last minute stand as they fought an uphill battle to within a singleton for even-Stephen back, gave 5,300 fans a bad dose of jittery panic and apprehension Sunday.

In two games, South Side has now lifted its tri-color to the very top of the standard, leading the third-and-thunder circuit by the scant margin of two points, while Canucks trail Edmonton Athletics by a club drag back in the next slot, deadlocked.

Maybe it's a habit with South Siders, descending upon their rivals on a spontaneous, almost instinctive power, or in two games now they have taken and built up four-goal leads in the three frames, and they started their drive early.

On four power-laden attacks, South Side shot-punchers took it on the lam for as many goals, and right up until the final frame they maintained a good margin.

While the boys from over the border went out for a quarter of goals in the first they held Canucks to one, then followed in the second, keeping the Canucks locked down to one, but the fighting and desperate aggression in the third period.

Twice in the final frame Canucks went through for markers, but within one tally of a tie, and for some 10 minutes or more kept the rapidly crowd tensed up to the hilt of the effort, and for every thrill that was tossed upon the board, there were double as many thrills.

On glimmering eyes could pick out self-defence stars for South Side. In goal rode Eddie Williams to the occasion of making many great stops. On defence waited Jimmy Anderson and the ever-living Percy Davis cut off shots of the best.

Front butt Jack Chester, Jack Witherspoon and Harold Sutton looked exceptionally good. Davis was the leading post-er with one goal and a brace of assists.

Flett, Stanley, Alford and Hasky did best for the losers. Hasky, whirling in one of the dangerous spots, sniped the corner for South Side's opening marker, and then was mainly instrumental in putting the second tri-color goal. Davis made a fine play with Witherspoon, slapping over a perfect pass and the latter shot was certain of registering.

Anderson carried the puck, cleverly manipulating the ball to give Chesney a good pass. Witherspoon and Davis duplicated the play which brought them the second goal to finish the game at four. Davis paid was good and the shot Jack Witherspoon hit, buried under past goalie Lupul.

Flett baited a stray puck out front and the die was immediately flibbeted within the South Side, hump by Minchin, late in the middle session.

Canucks "hot" at the third. Hasky, Alford and Chester were "hot" at the start of the third. Hasky, Alford and Chester were "hot" at the start of the third.

GOOD BOXING CARD BILLED FOR DEC. 18

Percentage of Proceeds to Be Used For Not Forgotten Fund

With a percentage of the gate to be given the Edmonton Bulletin Not Forgotten Fund, promoter Simon Chapman and Matchmaker Hugh Porter, both returned men, will present an all-star professional boxing show at the Empire theatre on Wednesday, December 18.

A couple of fast 135 pounders, in the feature headline, Don Inkster, of Vancouver, and Bonnie Wells of Red Deer will battle while in the second 160 pounds, Kid Alcide and Steve Sloane will go over an eight-round route.

All fighters, at various hours in the afternoon, are in training at the Empire Boxing club with their respective trainers.

The ticket sale will open at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night, starting at 9:00 o'clock, and popular seats are available.

CAN-AM CHAMPS BEAT RAMBLERS

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—The show-stopping Boston Bruins, just crowned Can-Am champions, unceremoniously defeated the Philadelphia Flyers 2-1 here Saturday night.

While the boys from over the border went out for a quarter of goals in the first they held Canucks to one, then followed in the second, keeping the Canucks locked down to one, but the fighting and desperate aggression in the third period.

Twice in the final frame Canucks went through for markers, but within one tally of a tie, and for some 10 minutes or more kept the rapidly crowd tensed up to the hilt of the effort, and for every thrill that was tossed upon the board, there were double as many thrills.

WOLFE SIGNS TO PLAY GOAL WITH MINERS

Drumheller Miners new goalie, Bud Wolfe, formerly with the EAC and South Siders in Edmonton, made an instant hit with local fans Saturday when he won his initial game wearing the black and white uniform of the Miners.

Wolfe was actually signed up last night, but before the game commenced, but local hockey officials had been working on the transfer for several days. Final contract terms all clubs in the southern Alberta senior circuit to Wolfe's former club, the Miners.

Wolfe will make his debut on December 17, Wednesday, against the Calgary Rangers.

Red Wings Score Pair Of Triumphs In Weekend Play

Bucko McDonald Wins Game for Detroit Squad Against Rangers by Scoring in Last Minute of Play

DETROIT, Dec. 16.—Detroit's Red Wings scored a pair of triumphs in their weekend play, winning 4-2 against the New York Rangers and 3-1 against the Boston Bruins.

Early in the opening period Kelly gave the Wings a lead on a deuce pass from Scotty Bowman and Walter Kilrea. Ken Kilrea put them two goals short against an untested tally, but in the final minute of the period Kelly tallied on Mason's pass to put the Rangers in the game.

After a rough but scoreless second period, in which Murdoch and Ken Kilrea threw punches for lost, Lorne Patrick kicked the count on a host pass by Scotty. With less than a minute to go "Bucko" McDonald, wing defenceman, scored the winning goal with a shot from the slot.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

—By William Ferguson

The four aerial highways used by North American birds are known as the Atlantic, the Mississippi, the Central, and the Pacific fly-ways. Some migrants go north by one route and return by another, and all birds of one species do not follow the same route.

These Gifts are all Set Up!

By Such Famous Makers as "Currie" or "Hickok"

There is a decided something about the way these accessories are assembled that will please the men you must remember. For instance, a Currie leather belt winds itself around a miniature ten-gallon hat... and lo! the hat is a metal ash-tray! ($2.00). Another belt with buckle is encased in a metal band that proves to be the newest and smartest of the racks! ($2.00). And so on, we could rave about them all. Let us be brief—

CURRIE GARTER SET, with arm bands 50c to $1.00
CURRIE SUSPENDERS, various patterns, PAIR 50c to $1.50
CURRIE SUSPENDER SETS $1 and $1.50
HICKOK BELT and BUCKLE SETS, at $1.00 to $3.00
